Hi Rusty,

I was provided your contact information by Brent Maier. Glen Canyon National Recreation Area is a 1.25 million acre area managed by the National Park Service. Most visitors to Glen Canyon are recreating on Lake Powell, but we also attract river rafters and anglers, including on the San Juan River.

We are receiving a tremendous amount of visitor and media interest in the Gold King Mine release and are hoping to get clarification from the EPA regarding any potential risks for lake or river recreation. If there is no or little risk that would also be very helpful information.

Would you please call or email me at your earliest convenience so that we may provide good information to our park neighbors and visitors. I appreciate your help!
